

Interview Questions

- 1. How evenly matched were the two of you when you married to deal with the conflict you experienced? What influences played into that?
- 2. How has the conflict changed over the years of the marriage? Do you still experience conflict about the same kinds of things?
- 3. The book says a conflict can be a positive element in your marriage. Please tell us more about that.
- 4. You suggest that conflict lead to discovery or to damage. How does it lead to discovery? How can it become damaging?
- 5. Do you ever find that you are unable to come to an agreement? And if so how do you handle that?
- 6. Tell us a little bit more about how the book is arranged.
- 7. Baggage sounds like an interesting topic. How does it relate to conflict?
- 8. Tell us a little bit about what the boundaries of dealing with conflict appropriately might be or include?
- 9. What was it like to collaborate on a book together? Did that create any conflict?
- 10. There's no shortage of books on marriage in the Christian market. What makes this book different?